Mount Pearl Presents the Door You Came In

Finale of provincial tour on Sunday, July 10 at 7:00 p.m.

MOUNT PEARL, NL – The City of Mount Pearl invites the public to a free two-man performance, The Door You Came In. The play is based on the stories of The Danger Tree. It surrounds a writer visiting his dying mother. He brings a book that he'd written 25 years ago to read to her. It's about her family, but it's also about the terrible battle – Beaumont Hamel – that sits at the heart of both Newfoundland's and her family's history.

Co-creators of The Door You Came In, Douglas Cameron and David Macfarlane, will finish their provincial tour on Sunday, July 10 at 7:00 p.m. with a play at Centennial Park, next to Mount Pearl City Hall. The rainy day location is Park Place Community Centre.

Douglas Cameron is a two-time Juno nominee who has been composing and performing for over four decades. He has composed extensively for television and film and is best known for his work on Ants In Your Pants (Treehouse TV).

David Macfarlane's novel Summer Gone, was shortlisted for the Scotiabank Giller Prize. His Newfoundland family memoir, The Danger Tree: Memory, War, and the Search for a Family's Past, was greeted with extraordinary international acclaim. His most recent novel, The Figures of Beauty, won the Bressani Literary Prize.
